

A First Look Weekend at Michigan Medicine

Michigan Medicine is proud to announce:

First Look Leadership Weekend: Becoming a Change Agent in Health Equity August 9 - 10, 2019

Sponsored by the Office for Health Equity and Inclusion (OHEI) at Michigan Medicine. OHEI aims to promote the development of leadership skills in medical students interested in health equity, diversity and inclusion.

Keynote Speaker: Camara P. Jones, M.D., M.P.H., PhD.

Dr. Jones is a family physician and epidemiologist whose work focuses on the impacts of racism on the health and well-being of the nation. She seeks to broaden the national health debate to include not only universal access to high quality health care, but also attention to the social determinants of health (including poverty) and the social determinants of equity (including racism).

Goals and Objectives

At the end of this 2-day workshop:

- ◆ Students will develop leadership skills to become change agent for healthcare equity and explore ways to positively lead and influence healthcare inequities.
- ◆ Students will learn how to define and understand health disparities and healthcare disparities.
- ◆ Students will learn to address the social determinants of health in healthcare delivery, and explore how cultural humility, as a life-long skill development, leads to the delivery of equitable care.
- ◆ Students will explore how institutional racism is a driver of healthcare disparities and learn how to lead organizational transformation around health equity and inclusion.
- ◆ As part of their leadership journey, students will become aware of the intersection of inclusion and wellness through a dialogue on resilience.

As members of the ACGME Pursuing Excellence Collaborative, we are leveraging our institutional assets to engage our house officers to develop leadership skills around eliminating health disparities.

Open to all M-4 students in good standing, interested in health equity, diversity and inclusion.

Registration

Students will be selected to participate in the First Look Leadership Weekend based on their commitment to diversity, equity and/or inclusion, academic qualifications, leadership potential and USMLE Step 1 scores.

The Office of Health Equity and Inclusion at the University of Michigan will cover room, board and meals for participants. Additionally, there is a stipend up to $400 for travel.

 Please note that although faculty members of the Office of Health Equity and Inclusion will review applications, selection for participation in the First Look Leadership Weekend will not impact any future application to any University of Michigan Residency Program(s). **
